The OHSU-PSU School of Public Health's Student Leadership Council invites you to attend its annual conference showcasing the things students are doing and the breadth of work in public health. More than 40 oral and poster presentations will highlight research, class projects, personal and professional experience and much more. A schedule of events will be available March 26th on the conference website.

This is an interdisciplinary event open to students, faculty, public health professional and community members. Light refreshments provided.
